

Philippe Perakis

Producer, director & storyteller

Born to a photographer mother, Philippe inherited the gift of image observation from a very young age.

With his 360° vision, Philippe completed his education with a specialization course in Marketing and Communication, Strategy & e-Business from the University of Geneva. This university-level education allows him to provide his clients with expertise in production and short films, in line with current communication trends and strategies.

With more than 20 years of experience in marketing and communication, Philippe brings his know-how in particular into the fields of video production. He offers undeniable added value to all the communication and marketing projects he has completed for numerous companies.
