LES CAHIERS DE L'IRAFPA

IRAFPA's scientific journal, founded in 2023. It is published on SOAP2, a free, open-access platform based in Switzerland. The journal—peer-reviewed but not double-masked, to facilitate discussion—is part of IRAFPA's initiative to advance the sciences of academic integrity.

BECOME A MEMBER

- The International Institute for Research and Action on Fraud and Plagiarism in Academia (IRAFPA) was established as a nonprofit association on June 18, 2016, in Geneva, Switzerland. The association is independent and has no political or religious affiliations.
- Members contribute to developing and establishing best practices for integrity within their immediate environments. They promote the implementation of organizational mechanisms governing the reporting and handling of academic fraud and plagiarism. They provide the institute with information that is useful for its research and actions.

THE ROLE OF THE INSTITUTE

Create

Create an international, interdisciplinary forum for scholars to promote democratic debate on academic integrity.

- + Conduct theoretical and empirical research
- + Develop and disseminate a recognized methodology for expert assessment

Publish

Publish books in French and English, a scientific journal, a quarterly newsletter, a LinkedIn page, and a WebTV platform offering free access to more than 100 video clips and programs dedicated to the sciences of integrity.

Provide Support

Conduct mediation to support individuals and legal entities—whether direct victims or witnesses—affected by academic fraud or plagiarism.

Training and Certification

- Provide training in specific skills during its summer schools “Integrity Advisor” and “Implementing a Culture of Integrity”
- Issue institutional certifications for “Responsible Institutions”

ACT

RESEARCH

“Interaction research” arises from an ongoing dialogue between researchers from various disciplines and decision-makers responsible for governing faculties, doctoral schools, institutions, or national research funding agencies.

The IRAFPA Reports are published annually and focus on a sensitive topic. An open-ended questionnaire is distributed to faculty members (in France, Belgium, Switzerland, and Canada), resulting in a report, e.g., The Magnitude and Constraints of the Academic Entrepreneur—A Survey of Faculty Members, 2026.

SUMMER SCHOOLS

Drawing on more than 15 years of experience in mediation, expert assessments, and certifications, IRAFPA offers three unique training programs that emphasize democratic debate. Role-playing exercises play a major role in helping participants acquire these skills..

Option 1: “Integrity Advisor”	Thursday, July 8 - Saturday July 10, 2027
Option 2: “Implementing a Culture of Academic Integrity”	Monday, July 5, and Tuesday, July 6, 2027
Option 3: Advanced Course	March 2027, 1 day

REFERRALS AND MEDIATION

Any individual or legal entity, whether academic or not, has the right to seek confidential advice from one of the four members of the IRAFPA Executive Board regarding a matter of concern involving violations of academic values and standards.

IRAFPA conducts its own investigations, with the sole objective of improving the academic system in the service of knowledge.

IRAFPA may also, upon request, assist in investigations conducted by those responsible for determining instances of fraud in accordance with the conditions outlined in national regulations or standards.

COMMUNICATE

COLLOQUIUM

Conferences enable international participants to contribute to the development of integrity sciences through original, multidisciplinary presentations and through friendly yet rigorous discussions. IRAFPA proposes themes that anticipate the disruptions and changes affecting academic integrity.
